

CARTHUSIANS AT HOYLAKE

AT THE FAR HOLE: John Beck holes one of an awkward length at the Far hole. He and Burdon Sanderson (extreme left) lost three matches and halved with A. Walker and C. Bromley Davenport.

THE CAPTAINS: Halford Hewitt, of Charterhouse and Deal fame, with his opposite number, Sir Percy Bates, captain of the Royal Liverpool Club, having a little quiet amusement over the "latest one."

THE victorious Carthusian Halford Hewitt Cup team with some reinforcements met a team got together by Sir Percy Bates, captain of the Royal Liverpool Club, last week-end, in a match by four-somes over Hoylake links, when, after finishing all even on the first day's play, they failed to sustain the battle on the second and could win only two points.

The Hoylake air is keen, particularly at this time of year, and Hoylake's hospitality abounding—which may have had a little to do with the failure of so strong a team, to say nothing of the strength of the opposition, most of whom were on their native heath, so to speak.

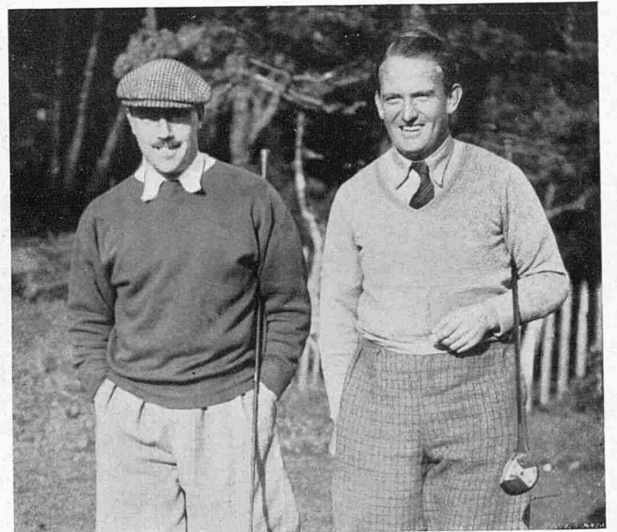

It is pleasant to record that Mr. Halford Hewitt, who was in charge of the Charterhouse boys, was one of the honoured four who won their matches on the Sunday.

CHILLY BUT CHEERFUL: H. C. Longhurst (Charterhouse), J. D. Sharples, P. W. Leathart and John Morrison (Charterhouse) setting out cheerfully for their match—Charterhouse won by 2 and 1.

WAITING THEIR TURN: H. N. M. Fogg and H. L. Holden with C. Middleton and Bernard Drew, of Charterhouse, waiting to go out. Holden and Fogg won by 2 and 1.

THE BRANKSOME CUP: M. R. Gardner, the Army champion, won the Branksome Challenge Cup, presented by the Branksome Towers Hotel, at Parkstone. Gardner broke the record with a first-round score of 66. Gardner's aggregate was 141. He is seen with E. C. Millard, a runner-up.
